

Israel ASP(net) Steering Committee

Dr. Yael Harel

During the academic year, the Steering Committee met once a month at Beir Berl Teacher's College.

1. The main focus of activities of the Steering Committee during the months leading up to February 2001 was preparation for the "Learning to Live Together" International Seminar on Intercultural Education in Teacher training. This was a pioneer project aimed at involving teacher training colleges in the ASPnet.

2. During 2000, the following projects were reviewed and approved as areas of cooperation.

i) Eyhud Peleg — The Centre for Technological Education — presented the project on Democratic Education and Human Rights.

ii) Michael Ohayon — "Klil" NGO — gave a dramatic presentation on Education for Values.

iii) Boris Stibelman — Experimental School in Kfar Saba — explained how his school has developed student motivation through science and art.

iv) Guy Elias — Children's International Summer Village — described the work of his organization. His presentation was followed by a visit of ASP Jewish and Arab students to an international camp of CISV youth in Israel.

3. The Steering Committee worked on criteria for the sub-committees. A booklet will be published showing a new model of management.

4. The Project Committee worked on criteria for the sub-committees. A booklet will be published showing a new model of management.

5. The Ben Zvi School in Kfar Saba is working together with Ganit Weinstein, Superintendent for Experimental Schools, to explore the possibility of joining the Experimental Schools network.